DETAILED ACTION

DRAFT

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-48, drawn to a method for detecting a nucleic acid classified in class 435, subclass 91.1. What about claims 51-52?
- II. Claims 49, 50, 53, and 54 drawn to a kit for detecting a nucleic acid classified in class 536, subclass 24.3, for example.
- III. Claim 55 drawn to a composition for a ligation reaction classified in class 435, subclass 6, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

1. Inventions III, II and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the products of Groups II and III can be used in another materially different process, such as the Ligase Chain Reaction (LCR).

Furthermore, searching Groups III, II and I together would impose a serious search burden. First, Groups III, II and I have obtained a separate status in the art as demonstrated by their different classifications. Moreover, the search of Groups III, II and I is not coextensive. A search for the methods of Group I would not necessarily encompass a search for the products of Groups II and III

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search of Groups II and I together would result in a significant search burden, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the product of Group II does not include the ligase of the composition of Group III. The subcombination has separate utility such as a reactant in a LCR.

Furthermore, searching Groups II and III together would impose a serious search burden. First, Groups II and III have obtained a separate status in the art as demonstrated by their different classifications. Moreover, the search of Groups II and III is not coextensive. A search for the products of Group II would not necessarily encompass a search for the composition of Group III.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search of Groups II and I together would result in a significant search burden, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
